UCITS ETF Providers

Market risk is a risk of investments declining in value because of economic developments or other events that affect the entire market. As a result of market risk, the Client may suffer losses due to the overall adverse price movement in the securities market or in a certain segment thereof. Adverse price movement may be caused, for instance, by poor economic indicators of the relevant state or branch of the economy, unstable economic environment, or unstable securities market.

By making KIIDs for the respective UCITS ETFs available via the websites listed below, Admirals considers its obligation to provide such information to you fulfilled, in accordance with applicable regulatory requirements. It remains your responsibility to review the KIIDs prior to making any investment decision.

If a KIID for a given UCITS ETF is not accessible via the websites listed below, we encourage you to consult the relevant ETF issuer or contact Admirals directly before proceeding with any investment decision. In line with regulatory requirements, Admirals does not facilitate access to UCITS ETFs unless the KIID has been made available beforehand.
