

Inducements Disclosure Statement

Effective as of the 21.01.2026

I. Introduction

This Inducements Disclosure Statement (hereinafter the "Statement"), has been prepared by Admirals Europe Ltd, previously named Admiral Markets Cyprus Ltd (hereinafter referred to as the "Company", "We", "Us", "Ours") in accordance to the Investment Services and Activities and Regulated Markets Law 87(I)2017, which transposes the Directive 2014/65/EU on markets in financial Instruments ("MiFID II").

The Statement below identifies the types of receipts, payments and non-monetary benefits we may make or receive along with an indication of our approach and how the Company implements it in accordance with the MiFID II rules.

II. What is an Inducement

Inducements are all the receipts, payments or non-monetary benefits received and paid by the Company.

The inducements can fall under the following categories:

- a) Items received from our Clients, or paid by Clients, (or a person acting on our Client's behalf) or item provided to Our Clients, or paid to Our Clients (or a person acting on Our Client's behalf);
- b) Fees which directly enable, or are necessary for, the provision of the services we provide to our Clients (such as custody fees, settlement and exchange fees), and which do not give rise to a conflict with Our duty to act honestly, fairly, professionally and in accordance with your best interest; and
- c) Items received from, or paid by, a third party (or a person acting on their behalf) or provided to, or paid to, a third party (or a person acting on their behalf). Such receipts, payments or non-monetary benefits are designed to enhance the quality of the services the Company provides to you and designed not impair the Company's duty to act in a Clients best interest.
- d) Fees paid or received that do not serve our clients' best interest such as the Liquidity Providers fees.

III. Inducements identified by the Company

Inducement	Description	The Company's measures to manage the Conflict of Interest	Risks Involved	Amount
Variable Remuneration	The Company is offering to its employees variable remuneration, especially to the Sales and Customer Support.	The Company has put in place Audit controls and strict measures in order to ensure that no conflicts will arise and the employees always act on the best interest of the clients.	The Company shall not incentivize its employees for any sales practises as this will lead to the company's possible non-compliance.	€21 101,42
Remuneration to Partners / Affiliates / Introducers	The Company remunerates third-party marketing partners, affiliates, introducers, or other referral entities for promotional and client-acquisition activities. Remuneration may be based on predefined commercial criteria such as Cost-Per-Acquisition (CPA), Cost-Per-Qualified-Lead (CPQL), Cost-Per-Lead (CPL), fixed-fee arrangements or hybrid models.	The Company has established strict controls and monitoring processes to ensure that: • all Partner arrangements are reviewed and approved by Compliance; • remuneration does not influence or impair the Company's obligation to act in the best interest of Clients; • Partners are prohibited from providing investment advice or making misleading statements; • Partners may use only Company-approved marketing materials; • Client pricing, spreads, commissions, execution quality, or product conditions are not affected by the source of acquisition; • aggregate inducement amounts are publicly disclosed in accordance with MiFID II.	The risk exists that Partners may engage in unapproved or misleading marketing communications, which could result in Clients forming inaccurate expectations. The Company mitigates this risk through enhanced due diligence, periodic monitoring, mandatory corrective actions, and termination rights. The remuneration paid to Partners must not create any incentive that leads to Client detriment or breaches of conduct rules.	€20 700

IV. Conclusion

The Company takes all reasonable steps to ensure that the Company's approach to Inducements is properly managed. If you have any questions or require further detail regarding this Statement, please contact us at info@admiralmarkets.com.cy.
